

ViVet

herbal feed supplement for horses

Globally, we know of more than 30,000 active and secondary plant substances and when it comes to animals, it is evident that a large share of their daily diet is made of plants, both directly and indirectly.

In their natural settings, animals have free access to all the nutrients they need and are evolutionary adapted to. Mother Nature is indeed a gigantic, nutritional treasure vault, to which our pets and livestock no longer have free access.

It is therefore of vital importance that we provide our animals with these plant nutrients, alongside a balanced species specific tailored diet.

In other words...

Applying computer phraseology, animal nutrition elements such as fat, proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals represent the “hardware”.

To be able to utilize the computer, the appropriate software is also required.

Nutrients from the plant kingdom make up this “software” which as well as enabling the “hardware” to run at peak performance at all times also secures optimal “operations”.

Accordingly, ViVet oil for horses is so uniquely composed, that you can treat your horse with a healthy, nourishing daily supplement which, among other things, contains plants, berries, bark, nuts, roots, flowers and organic canola oil.

Our ViVet-line also provides supplements for dogs, cats and ferrits.
